

WeCAN General Meeting Minutes
August 13, 2019

The meeting began with an update from community resource officer Robert Gibbs. He shared about the 911Now and other 911 developments. More information is available online.

Beth Glandon from Discover Denver, which is a citywide building survey, came to share about Discover Denver. They are researching the history of all of the buildings of Denver. Teams from Discover Denver are now surveying the West Colfax area.

Leah Rounds shared some announcement. The next cleanup is coming up October 5. They are looking for cleanup projects that need to be done. There were some other announcements about the running club and radon and lead paint test kits.

Jessica Dominguez introduced the candidates for Denver Public Schools Board of Education for District 5. Each candidate had an opportunity to introduce themselves and share why they are running. Candidates are:

Julie Banuelos juliefordps.com

Tony Curcio tonycurciofordenverkids.com

Brad Laurvick bradfordenverschools.com

The candidates then spent time answering questions from the attendees.

The first question was asking the candidates what school equity is. The next question was what experience the candidates have to oversee the $1.4 billion annual budget. Next, the question was how the candidates would level the playing field in terms of segregation between schools. The last question was what they would do to bring affordable housing options and if that is the role of the public school board.
